TOO MUCH MONEY

A Retired Captain in the British Navy Suicides.

He Had Two Million Dollars, and So Much Hard Cash Worried Him.

ROOSEVELT COMPLIMENTED

AN UNUSUAL SUICIDE.

London, July 12—The great wealth seems to have been the immediate cause of the suicide of Sebastian Gassiot, a retired captain of the royal navy. A brother of Captain Gassiot, who died recently, bequeathed £500,000, $2,500,000, to St. Thomas' hospital, and at the inquest just held it transpired that the captain inherited £400,000, $2,000,000, of his brother's money. He therefore became depressed by the weight of his responsibility and imbued with the delusion that he was exceedingly poor. Finally the captain shot himself at his residence July 8. In his hand was discovered a paragraph from a newspaper referring to his brother's bequest to the hospital and the will which had been such a source of trouble.

BOUGHT THE PRESIDENT'S WRITINGS

New York, July 12—Queen Alexandra, at the coronation bazar, in the botanical gardens, which she opened, paid an exceedingly delicate compliment to President Roosevelt, says a Herald dispatch from London.

After being received at the American court by Mrs. Choate and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, she carefully examined the articles on sale and selected a volume of President Roosevelt's writings, saying she anticipated much pleasure in reading it.

HIT THE SPRINKLER.

Street Car Overturns the Rolling Tank at Sixth and Jefferson.

Henry Hobbs, Colored Driver, Knocked Off and Painfully Bruised.

A Trimble street car struck one of the O'Brien street sprinklers today shortly after noon and turned it over, wrecking the big tank and injuring the driver, Henry Hobbs, colored.

Hobbs had just filled the tank and was crossing Jefferson street at Sixth when the car came bowling along. The motorman undertook to stop when he saw the sprinkler but Hobbs did not get his horses turned around and out of the way quick enough and the car struck the sprinkler. The big vehicle was turned over and all the water spilled over the street while the driver was thrown to the ground and his left leg and shoulder badly sprained. Hobbs tried to turn his horses aside when he saw that he could not cross the track before the car, and succeeded in clearing the car, except the rear wheels of the sprinkler, which were struck. The damage to the wagon will amount to considerable.

Hobbs is not seriously hurt.

SUPERINTENDENT RESIGNS.

Business at the banks was heavier the past week than at the same time last year, the business showing an increase in the clearings of $64,180. Wholesale trade was good in all lines the past week with collections fair. The saddle and harness trade is not as good as last year on account of the bad crop conditions in the south. River trade is dull but this is the dull season for steamboats. Railroad traffic is good with passenger traffic very good. Retail trade has been very good the past week, with all the stores running clearance sales.

MUCH WORK

A Large Force of Men on the Seacoast Property in Mechanicsburg

Temporary Building Being Erected, Also an Office Structure.

There is much activity about the old Clements mill property recently purchased by the Seacoast Mining company, in Mechanicsburg, preparatory to converting it into a separator. There are fifteen or twenty men engaged in clearing away the yards, and the property is being surrounded by a fence that greatly improves its appearance.

Foundations are being built for the main building, which will be frame and a temporary structure only, and for the office building, which will be two stories high. The intention of the concern to erect a steel structure for its separator, but it will be a year or more before the necessary steel can be secured.

In the meantime work will be pushed, and it is hoped to be in operation in the course of a few weeks.

THE HOSE DEAL.

The fire hose deal is still being investigated but the committeemen who are making the investigation will not give out any information relative to what they have learned. The mayor will make a full report when the investigation has been settled and submit it to the council and board of aldermen for ratification or rejection.

KENTUCKIAN SWINDLED.

Mr. Ed Ewell of New Orleans is here on a visit to his sisters.

VERY SENSATIONAL

Trouble at Benton Over Alleged Forged Papers.

Finance Committee Say They Do Not Remember Signing It.

At the meeting of the town authorities last Wednesday night some sensational things were brought before the board and somebody is placed in a peculiarly undesirable position. Some time ago during the smallpox scare the health officers ordered all persons within the town to be vaccinated and all persons who were unable to pay the fee were to be vaccinated at the expense of the town. Dr. Hall presented a bill to Marshal D. F. Fiser and asked payment. Mr. Fiser referred him to Leroy Griffith and Clint Holland the committee on finance and told the doctor to have them sign the order and that he would then sign it.

The doctor did so and Mr. Fiser paid it in full or in part and on last Wednesday night while the council was in session the bill was filed as a voucher for settlement when Mr. Griffith denied all knowledge of its existence saying that he had neither seen or heard of the bill nor had he signed it. Mr. Holland admitted that his name was in his handwriting but had forgotten everything concerning it.

This places some one in a bad light as the affair is to be investigated and the serious charge of forgery will very likely be preferred against some one. —Benton Tribune.

FEW IN THE HOSPITAL.

There is little illness in the I. C. hospital here, a smaller number of patients than has been entered in some time. There are not more than twenty-five patients under treatment there, and this is a remarkable record for this time of the year.

SHE STUCK TO HIM

Devotion of Former Gov. Bob Taylor's Daughter to Her Lover.

She Married a Young Man Who Had Been Driven Away By Her Father.

GOV. TAYLOR IS PROSTRATED

Knoxville, Tenn., July 12—The elopement of Miss Emily Henson Taylor, the 19 year old daughter of former Gov. Robert L. Taylor, with Dr. G. T. St. John, of this city, has created a sensation here. Miss Taylor and Dr. St. John left this morning at 1 o'clock for Chilhowee, Va., where the parents of the groom live. To this marriage hangs the story of a beautiful girl's devotion to a man who had been turned from the home of her father. Since two years ago, when Dr. St. John, who is 22 years old, was graduated from the Tennessee Medical college, he has been paying attention to Miss Taylor. Six months ago his office was closed by creditors. Last week he brought suit against Robert Alexander and Mack Reynolds, gamblers of this city, to recover $500, and it developed that he has lost $1,500 in the last six months. Governor Taylor investigated and found the young man had been gambling. Then he turned him out.

Last evening while the governor was at Lebanon, Tenn., lecturing the girl stole from home, where she was being guarded, and went to a secluded part of the city and met St. John and married him. She is one of the most beautiful girls in Knoxville, and St. John comes of an old family. Governor Taylor is prostrated over the affair.

GETTING TOGETHER.

Birmingham, Ala., July 12—The prospects for an early settlement of the differences between the coal miners and operators are now very bright. ## BLACKWELL HELD

The Elmendorf Trial Was Continued at Smithland Yesterday.

Important Witnesses in the Case Expected from Several Counties.

ALLEGED HE WAS A SUSPECT

Will Blackwell, the Smithland man charged with having slipped the saw blades and other tools into the jail at Smithland to aid Culver, the safe-blower, to escape, waived examination and was held, going to jail in default of bond.

Elmendorf's trial was set for Thursday, but was continued over to wait for witnesses.

Elmendorf is alleged to have furnished Blackwell with the saw blades and other tools. Owing to absent witnesses from Paducah and Dixon, Webster county, the case was continued. There are three witnesses of Dixon who are wanted. They were on the Evansville packet the day Elmendorf was taken up from Paducah and one was the police judge. The Webster county people identified Elmendorf, it is claimed, as being the same man who was arrested there in April on suspicion. A lot of burglar tools, or such as were found in the county jail here, were found in possession of the suspect.

SHOT BY SISTER'S BEAU.

LITTLE FELLOW REFUSED TO LEAVE WHEN ORDERED TO DO SO.

Salersville, Ky., July 12—Wallis Estep, a ten year old boy, son of C. Estep, a prosperous farmer living on Mine Fork, of Paint creek, about ten miles from this place, was shot by H. O. Jenkins, aged about 23 years. The ball entered the hip, ranging toward the knee. Jenkins was calling on young Estep's sister and went to the house to see her. He asked the boy to leave and he refused. Jenkins chased him around the house two or three times and through the house, and as he went to go out at the door and across the fence Jenkins fired. The boy is not expected to live. Jenkins was arrested and is now in the custody of the officers.

Great excitement prevails in the neighborhood and further trouble is expected. The parents of the boy were away from home at the time.

The Week in Society.

The Doings of the Smart Set the Past Six Days. ۞ ۞ ۞
Pleasant Events and Personal Mention. ۞ ۞ ۞

LOVE AND LOGIC.

Love and Logic met one day
On the glowing heather;
Said Love, with gentle whisperings,
"Let us walk together."
Logic's bright eyes opened wide
As quick she answered, "Never!
The paths of Love and Logic, dear,
Were never walked together."

SOCIETY'S BLUFF.

Society has called down the thermometer this week, and every one is enjoying it immensely. We have grown so used to letting the mercury have right of way in its upward climb and of doing little else but watch it and deplore its agility, that when society started in on Monday as if the century mark were not in immediate vicinity, every one wondered. Making a mere incident of the heat, and with a stoic determination to ignore its absorbent power Society has danced, rowed, picnicked steadily on. The social calendar has been rarely well filled, some of the entertainments have even been functions in their size and importance. And before the week was half over our tyrant thermometer quietly crept down and has been decidedly cool to us ever since. However, no regret is felt as coolness from one's thermometer is always agreeable.

MECHANISBURG NEGLECTED.

It appears that if the business and residence portions of the city are being neglected by the authorities, the suburbs are faring much worse. The people of Mechanisburg pay taxes at the regular Democratic rate of $1.85 per, and are entitled to the benefits therefrom, small as they be. They seem to get very little in return for their money, however.

A resident writes The Sun as follows: "We heartily approve of your utterances regarding the unsanitary condition of Paducah. Up here we can sympathize with you. If the city has any sanitary officers they seem to have fought shy of this part of the town. We know that alley work is badly needed here, and that such work is usually done by the chaingang, but it has been several months since the chaingang did anything for us.

"We also indorse The Sun's position on the town cow question. We don't doubt but that many people who own cows would prefer to turn them out to feed, but believe that here, as in other parts of Paducah, the cow owners are so much in the minority that their wishes should not for a moment be given precedence over those of the greatest number.

"About all we have ever got out of the administration is an alderman. Of course this is quite an honor, but we want a few comforts up here. We want a run for our money, as the Three things are necessary in an advertisement in order to make it "pull." The first essential is that it shall contain some line or lines that shall arrest the attention. Secondly, it must have matter in it that will hold the attention until all of the facts have been read and digested. Thirdly it must give assurance of something that will be to the advantage of him who reads. These three facts should be kept constantly in mind by the writers of advertisements.

saying is."

Judging from the rapidity with which the city is looking after the health and welfare of the people in this part of town, Mechanicsburg will be reached by the year 2000, perhaps.

The members of the Gun club are doing much to advertise the city, and their tournaments are always attended by big men from many places. Such tournaments, when marksmen from larger cities are in attendance, are beneficial to the city and are very successful in advertising the city. The big tournament to be held here shortly will be attended by some of the best shooters in the middle states and will no doubt prove as successful as any tournament ever held in the state. The local shooters are looking forward to the event with much interest and anticipation and will fight hard to sustain the reputation of Paducah and Paducah marksmen. The citizens should assist the members of the Gun club to make it a success.

Irrespective of race or politics, the fair minded people of this country like to live in a law-abiding community, and those who do will approve the action of Governor Yates, of Illinois, in ordering troops to Eldorado to protect colored inhabitants who seemingly have done nothing to provoke the whites to various outrages. Sometimes it requires a man of great courage to take such a stand as Governor Yates has taken, but there are a great many of them still.

It's probably nicer to burn your own coal and have the town filled with smoke and soot and cinders than to have the heat delivered into your room like your water or your breakfast, anyhow. Our up-to-date board of aldermen seems to have formed a "coalition" against the steam heating franchise project.

It is said that John W. Gates will clear about six millions on corn although he probably never raised a bushel in his life. The farmer may feel disposed to kick a little over such doings, but doubtless if he had his choice he would prefer Gates' methods of getting rich on corn to raising it.

It is said that J. Pierpont went over to Germany and formed a trust with the kaiser, on board the latter's own yacht. In case an English shipping syndicate undertakes to down the American syndicate the kaiser and Pierpont, according to reports, will rise and show them a thing or two.

If the precedent established in Memphis of suing doctors for the death of patients should become popular, it is feared there will soon become a famine of physicians, or else people won't die so frequently.

INSTITUTE OVER

THE COUNTY TEACHERS' MEETING WAS VERY PROFITABLE.

The county Teachers' Institute came to a close at Massac yesterday afternoon, and was a great success. There was a large attendance throughout, and everybody was greatly pleased with it.

A large crowd last evening enjoyed the exercises of the Oak Hill Literary club.

Profs. Holland and McQueen got into a very spirited discussion before the institute closed, on the present condition of American politics, which was of two hours' duration. The discussion lasted so long that the superintendent had to declare the time for closing business had come.

WANTS WORKMEN.

A RAILROAD CONTRACTOR WILLING TO PAY $1.75 A DAY.

Mr. T. J. McBride, a railroad contractor doing work at Cape Girardeau, Mo., has written Marshal Crow here asking that a bunch of laborers be secured for him at the salary of $1.75 per day, a price much higher than the average scale paid common laborers. Mr. McBride says that he will pay the Paducah officers for securing them and will also pay the men's fares to Cape Girardeau.

Marshal Crow said that he had instructed his officers to make the loafing negroes about town that proposition and to get them to sign if possible. If they won't sign they will have to leave town or be prosecuted for vagrancy.

POLICE COURT

False Swearing Cases Called and Defendants Held.

A Number of Minor Cases Heard By Judge Sanders This Morning.

Ellen Parker, Emma Martin and Flora Martin, colored, charged with swearing falsely in a case in which the first named was charged with having stolen several articles from the Breeden drug store, were held to answer this morning by Judge Sanders, and the two Martin women were held and recognized for their appearance at the September term of court. The Parker woman's husband came down from Smithland this morning and made inquiry relative to the charges against his wife. He said he only heard of them today. Her case comes up Monday.

Tom Long was charged with cursing and abusing W. M. Swatt, of Graves county, who, it seems, went to the former's house, saying he thought it was a restaurant. The case was left open until Monday.

Dona Jones, the colored coke fiend who was released several days ago on condition that she at once leave the city, got on another rampage yesterday and cursed a white lady. The latter's husband gave her a good beating with a club and then took her to the lockup. She was required by the court to execute a bond for her good behavior for six months, or go to jail, but judgment was suspended on condition that she leave before noon, and she said she would.

Jim Parker was fined $1 and costs for being drunk.

The case against Amy Given for flourishing a pistol was dismissed.

The case against Biggie Hale and Cecil Hoffman, boys charged with breaking into the Darrett butcher shop, was continued until Monday.

GENERAL ASSOCIATION OF COLORED BAPTISTS TO MEET HERE NEXT MONTH.

Paducah will have the biggest organization of negroes in the state when the General association of colored Baptists convenes with the Washington street Baptist church in this city on the 15th of next month. Rev. George W. Dupee, for over 40 years pastor of the Washington street church, was one of its first moderators. Rev. John H. Frank and Wm. H. Steward of Louisville, are its present moderator and secretary. It will bring thousands of visitors to the city. The events likely to attract the most attention during the association, will be the election of a moderator, after two years, and the unveiling of the monument to the late Rev. G. W. Dupee. The welcome address to the general association will be delivered by Dr. W. H. Nelson, and the address, on behalf of the church, at the unveiling of the monument, will be delivered by Dr. C. A. Isbell. Among the candidates for moderator are Rev. R. Mitchell, of Frankfort; formerly pastor of the Seventh street church, this city, and S. E. Smith, of Owensboro, recently a candidate for the position of register of the U. S. treasury. The association met here several years ago but its membership is far in excess of what it was then.

A VERMONT LADY'S Desperate Fight for Life

Mrs. Nathan Beal says:

Paine's Celery Compound

Saved Me from the Insane Hospital as Well as Cured My Rheumatism.

There never was a remedy so highly recommended as Paine's Celery Compound. There never was a remedy in such universal demand. It is popular and prized in tens of thousands of homes, because it makes sick people well.

Paine's Celery Compound has saved thousands from nervous prostration and collapse; it has effected wonderful cures in kidney and liver complaint; its victories over rheumatism and neuralgia have commanded the attention and admiration of our best physicians. It has cured disease when everything else has failed.

Mrs. Nathan Beal, a well known lady of Gallup's Mills, Vt., writes as follows: "For ten months before I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound I could not put my foot on the first round of my chair, only five inches from the floor. I had nearly lost the use of my left side, and I could not lift a pound weight with the left hand without danger of dropping it. Many times I would lift something at the table, only to drop it. I had a pressure in the top of my head and a pain at the base of the brain, which would leave me so nervous that I used to tell my husband I would surely go crazy. I could not keep still at night, and Sundays were just awful to me. I found my whole system prostrated, and it took a long time to build up my poor, worn-out nerves. I think that Paine's Celery Compound saved me from the insane hospital, as well as cured my rheumatism."

CECIL RHODES' WILL

PROVIDES FOR PROPER FOOD FOR STUDENTS.

Cecil Rhodes in his will left a bequest of $50,000 for the improvement of the high table for resident fellows and tutors at Oriel college, Oxford. "I am rejoiced to find that one millionaire has at last given some thought to the question of dietetics in educational institutions," says Elizabeth Cady Stanton in the New York Journal.

"One of the crying evils in our schools, colleges and universities is the bad system employed in feeding growing boys and girls.

"Students, above all other classes, need plenty of good, well-cooked food, and a happy state of mind in anticipation of their various meals.

"Dyspepsia is one of the common diseases among the literary classes, and the foundation for this prevalent ailment is laid in our colleges and seminaries. Of what avail is a knowledge of art, science, philosophy and government when health is seriously undermined?"

All this comes from ignorance as to the kind of food element the body must have to supply the daily loss from brain work. Bacon, meat, potatoes, white bread and coffee absolutely will not keep a hard brain worker well. A food expert perfected a perfect food for brain workers.

Not only in the schools, but in the home should the food be looked after. The necessity of selecting food to supply proper nutrition to replace the daily waste of tissue of brain and nerves is of the greatest importance.

Grape-Nuts is the ideal food for young and old who use the brain actively, the diastase of the grains being perfectly developed, and the starch transformed into grape sugar in the most perfect manner. In this condition Grape-Nuts is ready to be quickly absorbed into the blood and tissue without taking the intestinal digestive machinery. The phosphate of potash found in the cereals is retained, and this with albumen supplies the elements required to build the gray matter in brain and nerve centers.

Dr. Max Groszman of New York City recently called the attention of the board of education to the fact that "pupils of the defective class are apt to be weak physically. Temporary aberrations are often mistaken for real defects, when they are only symptoms of physical growth, of indigestion or other maladies. Indigestion has been responsible for more than one falsehood, and its cure has often been followed by a return to truthfulness."

In its pre-digested form, the daily use of Grape-Nuts for the cereal part of the meal aids digestion, nourishes the body, tones up the nervous system and quickens the mental faculties.

Coffee should also be banished, for it unnaturally stimulates the brain and nerves, so that proper nutrition is interfered with, and they cannot get sufficient rest to take the food needed for the work they must do from day to day. For the morning beverage Postum Food Coffee should be used in place of coffee.

Let the daily breakfast, particularly at this time of the year, consist of Grape-Nuts and cream, a little fruit, a cup of Postum Food Coffee, some whole wheat bread and possibly one or two soft-boiled eggs. It is impossible to make one believe what a wonderful change in health, strength, comfort and ability comes in ten days after quitting wrong food and living on scientifically selected food.

The Human Lottery

"Ah, if only I were beautiful how happy life would be."

Many a forlorn maid has said this as she looked into the mirror. For beauty women have sacrificed home, love and friends. It is the one possession in the lottery of human life which women would not refuse.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

for young girls on the threshold of womanhood, has been invaluable. When they become pale and languid, the eyes dull, aching head, feet and hands cold, appetite gone or abnormal, obstructed periods and painful menses, and their systems generally run down, they need building up, and their blood needs cleansing.

Bradfield's Female Regulator for women is particularly valuable and useful owing to its tonic properties to build up the system, and as a regulator of the menstrual flow. Painful, obstructed and suppressed menstruation permanently relieved and all diseases peculiar to her genital organs are cured by it.

Regulator clears the complexion, brightens the eyes, sharpens the appetite, removes muddy and blotched conditions of the skin and cures sick headache to a certainty by removing the cause.

Of druggists $1.00 per bottle.
"Perfect Health for Women" is free and will be mailed on receipt of address.

The Avalon will pass down from Cincinnati tomorrow with a good trip.

The Dick Fowler departed on time this morning for Cairo with a good trip.

The City of Memphis is due here for St. Louis Tuesday night from the Tennessee river.

The Tennessee will leave at 6 o'clock tonight for Tennessee river with a good freight trip.

The Summers left this morning for Tennessee river for more ties. She arrived yesterday morning.

The Clifton will leave St. Louis Monday at 5 o'clock and will arrive at Paducah on Tuesday night.

The Hopkins arrived late from Evansville. She left shortly after noon on her return to Evansville.

The Wilford pulled out this morning for Cumberland river for ties. She arrived yesterday with a tow.

The Mary Stewart arrived yesterday afternoon from Golconda and departed on her return trip today at noon.

The river commission's allotments below will include Reelfoot funds to be spent on a two and a half mile levee near Hickman, Ky.

The Pavonia arrived this morning from Cumberland river with a tow of ties and will leave again tomorrow to bring out another tow.

The Inverness arrived this morning from Tennessee river with ties and will leave tomorrow for Tennessee river again for more ties.

The Sunshine passed up at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Memphis to Cincinnati with a good trip. She will report here again next week.

The big Pittsburg towboat the J.
B. Williams passed down yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock for the Mississippi river with a big tow of coal.

The L. N. Hook, which has been laying here since Wednesday awaiting orders, left this morning for Waterloo with Captain Douglas Jones in command.

Captain Ab Veatch has given up the fight for hull inspector at Evansville.
It is not known who will carry the longest pole and "punch the persimmon."

The Jo B. Williams passed down last night with one of the largest tows of coal on record. It contained 1-175,000 bushels, and is to be taken to New Orleans.

The J. B. Finley is on her way down with a big tow of coal. At Louisville about fifteen of her men quit her, which will probably delay her to some extent.

The steamer Henry Harley, from Nashville, arrived in the city last night for repairs and painting. She will have a new texas built and her hull touched up. The work will require several weeks.

The Lydia is laid up for repairs at present and will not go out again for several days. She broke some machinery coming down the last trip and did not arrive here until yesterday after having been out for some time.

The marine ways are still idle and no boat has been pulled out for the men to work on. The carpenters claim that they are not on a strike and that they have presented no grievance to Captain Williams and that they are willing to return to work as soon as anything is pulled out on the ways.

Christopher Leonidas and his son, long-haired medicine men, wearing sharpshooters' medals and heavily armed, boarded the Diamond Jo steamer Dubuque at Rock Island, Ill., and attempted to take possession.
Mate Dan Green shot and killed both when the boat was opposite Davenport, Iowa. The boat officers were held.

The way coal is towed is doubtless not fully understood by a great many people. For instance a light towboat leaves Pittsburg with a good sized tow of coal, on a rise in the river.
Seeing that the rise will hold out she comes some distance down the Ohio with it, hitches it to the tow of some larger towboat to bring on here, while she returns to Pittsburg light to bring out another tow. The "double tripping" was done by a number of tow-boats, and in some instances several of the largest towboats got as far as Louisville with their own and the tows of the two others.

Some years ago, when the towboat Ajax was built to tow coal to New Orleans, it was thought by the skeptical that six barges of coal hitched to her head would run away with her and drag her out into the Gulf of Mexico after them. At that time she could really never get enough of coal hitched to her to handle her well on account of the scarcity of it, and she made but two or three trips, laid up at Jeffersonville a few years and was dismantled. It would take half a dozen towboats like the Ajax to take the coal to New Orleans that is taken by the Williams or Finley nowadays in one trip.

CHAPTER I. THE PARTY ON SPECIAL NO. 218.

Any one who hopes to find in what is here written a work of literature had better lay it aside unread. At Yale I should have got the sack in rhetoric and English composition, let alone other studies, had it not been for the fact that I played half back on the team and so the professors marked me away up above where I ought to have ranked. That was 12 years ago, but my life since I received my parchment has hardly been of a kind to improve me in either style or grammar. It is true that one woman tells me I write well and my directors never find fault with my compositions, but I know that she likes my letters because, whatever else they may say to her, they always say in some form, "I love you," while my board approves my annual reports because thus far I have been able to end each with "I recommend the declaration of a dividend of — per cent from the earnings of the current year." I should therefore prefer to reserve my writings for such friendly critics if it did not seem necessary to make public a plain statement concerning an affair over which there appears to be much confusion. I have heard in the last five years not less than 20 renderings of what is commonly called "the great K. and A. train robbery," some so twisted and distorted that but for the intermediate versions I should never have recognized them as attempts to narrate the series of events in which I played a somewhat prominent part.

I have read or been told that, unassisted, the pseudo hero captured a dozen desperadoes; that he was one of the road agents himself; that he was saved from lynching only by the timely arrival of cavalry; that the action of the United States government in rescuing him from the civil authorities was a most high handed interference with state rights; that he received his reward from a grateful railroad by being promoted; that a lovely woman as recompense for his villainy—but, bother; it's my business to tell what really occurred and not what the world chooses to invent. And if any man thinks he would have done otherwise in my position I can only say that he is a better or a worse man than Dick Gordon.

Primarily, it was football which shaped my end. Owing to my skill in the game, I took a postgraduate at the Sheffield Scientific school, that the team might have my services for an extra two years. That led to my knowing a little about mechanical engineering, and when I left the "quad" for good I went into the Alton railroad shops. It wasn't long before I was foreman of a section; next I became a division superintendent, and after I had stuck to that for a time I was appointed superintendent of the Kansas and Arizona railroad, a line extending from Trinidad in Kansas to the Needles in Arizona, tapping the Missouri Western system at the first place and the Great Southern at the other. With both lines we had important traffic agreements, as well as the closest relations, which sometimes were a little difficult, as the two roads were anything but friendly. And we had directors of each on the K. and A. board, in which they fought like cats. Indeed it could only be a question of time when one would out the other and then absorb my road. My headquarters were at Albuquerque, in New Mexico, and it was there, in October, 1890, that I received the communication which was the beginning of all that followed.

This initial factor was a letter from the president of the Missouri Western, telling me that their first vice president, Mr. Cullen (who was also a director of my road), was coming out to attend the annual election of the K. and A., which under our charter had to be held in Ash Forks, A. T. A second paragraph told me that Mr. Cullen's family accompanied him, and that they all wished to visit the Grand canyon of the Colorado on their way. Finally the president wrote that the party traveled in his own private car and asked me to make myself generally useful to them. Having become quite hardened to just such demands, at the proper date I ordered my superintendent's car on to No. 2, and the next morning it was dropped off at Trinidad.

The moment No. 3 arrived I climbed into the president's special, that was the last car on the train, and introduced myself to Mr. Cullen, whom, though an official of my road, I had never met. He seemed surprised at my presence, but greeted me very pleasantly as soon as I explained that the Missouri Western office had asked me to do what I could for him and that I was there for that purpose. His party were about to sit down to breakfast, and he asked me to join them. So we passed into the dining room at the forward end of the car, where I was introduced to "My son," "Lord Ralles," and "Captain Ackland." The son was a junior copy of his father, tall and fine looking; but, in place of the frank and easy manner of his sire, he was so very English that most people would have sworn falsely as to his native land. Lord Ralles was a little, well built chap, not half so English as Albert Cullen, quick in manner and thought, being in this the opposite of his brother, Captain Ackland, who was heavy enough to rock ballast a roadbed. Both brothers gave me the impression of being gentlemen, and both were decidedly good looking.

After the introductions Mr. Cullen said we would not wait, and his remark called my attention to the fact that there was one more place at the table than there were people assembled. I had barely noted this when my host said, "Here's the trunk," and, turning, I faced a lady who had just entered. Mr. Cullen said, "Madge, let me introduce Mr. Gordon to you." My bow was made to a girl of about 20, with light brown hair, the bluest of eyes, a fresh skin and a fine figure, dressed so natively as to be to me, after my four years of western life, a sight for tired eyes. She greeted me pleasantly, made a neat little apology for having kept us waiting, and then we all sat down.

It was a very jolly breakfast table, Mr. Cullen and his son being capital talkers and Lord Ralles a good third, while Miss Cullen was quick and clever enough to match the three. Before the meal was over I came to the conclusion that Lord Ralles was in love with Miss Cullen, for he kept making low asides to her, and from the fact that she allowed them, and indeed responded, I drew the conclusion that he was a lucky beggar, feeling, I confess, a little pang that a title was going to win such a nice American girl.

One of the first subjects spoken of was train robbery, and Miss Cullen, like most easterners, seemed to take a great interest in it and had any quantity of questions to ask me.

"I've left all my jewelry behind, except my watch," she said, "and that I hide every night. So I really hope we'll be held up, it would be such an adventure."

"There isn't any chance of it, Miss Cullen," I told her, "and if we were, you probably wouldn't even know that it was happening, but would sleep right through it."

"Wouldn't they try to get our money and our watches?" she demanded.

I told her no and explained that the express and mail cars were the only ones to which the road agents paid any attention. She wanted to know the way it was done; so I described to her how sometimes the train was flagged by a danger signal, and when it had slowed down the runner found himself covered by armed men, or how a gang would board the train, one by one, at way stations, and then, when the time came, steal forward, secure the express agent and postal clerk, climb over the tender and compel the runner to stop the train at some lonely spot on the road. She made me tell her all the details of such robberies as I knew about, and, though I had never been concerned in any, I was able to describe several, which, as they were monotonously alike, I confess I colored up a bit here and there, in an attempt to make them interesting to her. I seemed to succeed, for she kept the subject going even after we had left the table and were smoking our cigars in the observation saloon. Lord Ralles had a lot to say about the American lack of courage in letting trains containing 20 and 30 men be held up by half a dozen robbers.

"Why," he ejaculated, "both my brother and I have a double express with us, and do you think we'd sit still in our seats? No. Hang me if we wouldn't pot something!"

"You might," I laughed, a little nettled, I confess, by his speech, "but I'm afraid it would be yourselves."

"Aw, you fancy resistance impossible?" drawled Albert Cullen.

"It has been tried," I answered, "and without success. You can see it's like all surprises—one side is prepared before the other side knows there is danger. Without regard to relative numbers, the odds are all in favor of the road agents."

"But I wouldn't sit still, whatever the odds," said his lordship. "And no Englishman would."

"Well, my lord," I said, "I hope, for your sake, then, that you'll never be in a hold up, for I should feel about you as the runner of a locomotive did when the old lady asked him if it wasn't very painful to him to run over people. 'Yes, madam,' he sadly replied. 'There is nothing that muzzes an engine up so.'"

I don't think Miss Cullen liked Lord Ralles' comments on American courage any better than I did, for she said:

"Can't you take Lord Ralles and Captain Ackland into the service of the K. and A., Mr. Gordon, as a special guard?"

"The K. and A. has never had a robbery yet, Miss Cullen," I replied, "and I don't think that it ever will have."

"Why not?" she asked.

I explained to her how the canyon of the Colorado to the north and the distance of the Mexican border to the south made escape so almost desperate that the road agents preferred to devote their attentions to other routes. "If we were boarded, Miss Cullen," I said, "your jewelry would be as safe as it is in Chicago, for the robbers would only clean out the express and mail cars. But if they should so far forget their manners as to take your trinkets I'd agree to return them to you inside of one week."

"That makes it all the jollier," she cried eagerly. "We could have the fun of the adventure and yet not lose anything. Can't you arrange for it, Mr. Gordon?"

"I'd like to please you, Miss Cullen," I said, "and I'd like to give Lord Ralles a chance to show us how to handle those gentry, but it's not to be done." I really should have been glad to have the road agents pay us a call.

We spent that day pulling up the Raton pass, and so on over the Glorieta pass down to Lamy, where, as the party wanted to see Santa Fe, I had our two cars dropped off the overland, and we ran up the branch line to the old Mexican city. It was well worn ground to me, but I enjoyed showing the sights to Miss Cullen, for by that time I had come to the conclusion that I had never met a sweeter or jollier girl. Her beauty, too, was of a kind that kept growing on one, and before I had known her 24 hours, without quite being in love with her, I was beginning to hate Lord Ralles, which was about the same thing, I suppose. Every hour convinced me that the two understood each other, not merely from the little asides and confidences they kept exchanging, but even more so from the way Miss Cullen would take his lordship down occasionally. Yet, like a fool, the more I saw to confirm my first diagnosis the more I found myself dwelling on the dimples at the corners of Miss Cullen's mouth, the bewitching uplift of her upper lip, the runaway curls about her neck and the curves and color of her cheeks.

Half a day served to see everything in Santa Fe worth looking at, but Mr. Cullen decided to spend the time they had to wait for his other son to join the party. To pass the hours I hunted up some ponies, and we spent three days in long rides up the old Santa Fe trail and to the outlying mountains. Only one incident was other than pleasant, and that was my fault. As we were riding back to our cars on the second afternoon we had to cross the branch roadbed, where a gang happened to be at work tamping the ties.

"Since you're interested in road agents, Miss Cullen," I said, "you may like to see one. That fellow standing in the ditch is Jack Drute, who was concerned in the D. and R. G. hold up three years ago."

Miss Cullen looked where I pointed, and, seeing a man with a gun, gave a startled jump and pulled up her pony, evidently supposing that we were about to be attacked. "Shan't we run?" she began, but then checked herself as she Introduced myself to Mr. Cullen. took in the facts of the drab clothes of the gang and the two armed men in uniform. "They are convicts?" she asked. And when I nodded she said, "Poor things!" Then after a pause she asked, "How long is he in prison for?"

"Twenty years," I told her.

"How harsh that seems!" she said.

"How cruel we are to people for a few moments' wrongdoing, which the circumstances may almost have justified!" She checked her pony as we came opposite Drute and said, "Can you use money?"

WITH THE THEATERS.

The English Stock company gave a vaudeville entertainment last night to a fairly large audience. There were three sketches, "Dr. Sawbones," "Robbing a Pawnshop" and "Dutch Justice," in which some excellent work was done. The specialties were good, and Mr. True S. James was seen for the first time in vaudeville. He gave a clever tramp specialty, and sang two songs, in addition to giving a monologue. One pleasing feature was songs by Master Herschel Robinson and Miss Addie Miller. Messrs. Grigg, Florence and Miss Hayes gave the usual satisfaction in their songs. Mr. Florence, as usual, making quite a hit in his negro character delineation. Tonight is the last appearance of the English Stock company, which closes its season.

The cool weather of last night lessened somewhat the attendance at La Belle park theatre last night, and while a fine house was present, there was not the number the excellence of the play was worthy of. On Monday night, by special request, the comedy-drama, "The Castaways," will be the attraction at La Belle Park theatre. This play made a great hit before, many pronouncing it the best drama of the entire season, and with the extra rehearsal that can now be given it, a perfect production can be expected. In this play the members of the company are cast in characters especially suitable to their particular abilities, and everyone is enabled to do the best work they are capable of.

Most of the English Stock company leaves early in the week. Miss Gale, who has been ill for the past several days, will go to Chicago from here, instead of New York. Miss Field will remain and become a member of the La Belle stock, beginning Thursday night.

FOR HOUSEBREAKING.

COLORED PIANIST WAS LOCKED UP THIS AFTERNOON.

Aaron Shell, colored, the "Professor" at Frankie Dixon's resort on West Court street, was this morning arrested by Officers Evitts and Farrow for housebreaking.

Last night some one entered the Dixon woman's resort which is located on the opposite side of the street from her residence proper, and attempted to get into a trunk containing some fine silks and other valuables. The burglar was frightened away but in his haste to make an exit lost one of his cuffs. The cuff was given to Officer Evitts who after an investigation found that it had been worn by Shell on the day before the robbery.

They then searched for Shell and finding him went to search his trunk where they found the mate to the cuff in the Dixon resort. He was arrested on the housebreaking charge and was locked up to await the action of the courts.

HE OWED $2,250.

WHAT PROF. M'DONALD LEFT BEHIND IN HENDERSON.

Prof. R. L. McDonald, who ran away from Henderson, leaving numerous debts behind him, writes back to one of his creditors that he owed $2,250 when he left Henderson, and that he proposes to pay it all. He says he has a good position in the far west, and that he will pay $50 a month, to be divided among his creditors. He calls attention to the fact that any attempt to expose him will cause him to lose his position, and will at the same time render it impossible for him to pay what he owes.

MILITARY COMPANY.

BELIEVED THAT PADUCAH ORGANIZATION WILL SOON BE COMPLETE.

Mr. James Caldwell, who is looking after the work of organizing the military company here, reports that the list is rapidly increasing, and he believes that the company will be ready to be mustered in, in time to attend the state encampment at Mammoth Cave.

CAPTAIN TICHENOR DIES IN NEW YORK.

Telegrams were received here today from New York city announcing the death of Colonel Tichenor, father of Mr. F. C. Tichenor, of Paducah.

No one could be found who knows the people mentioned, and Mr. F. C. Tichenor probably does not live here, no family of that name being in the directory.

ELKS AT METROPOLIS.

A LODGE TO BE ORGANIZED THERE SHORTLY.

A number of young men of Metropolis, according to the papers there, will organize a lodge of Elks as soon as the carnival is over. It is believed that a large lodge can be founded in our thriving neighbor.
